RE: MALONEY CONTRACTORS LTD.

To Whom it May Concern:

The Salvation Army in collaboration with BC Housing has recently completed the Fort St John Centre of Hope project. The facility is a combination of shelter, transitional housing, counselling and meal programs with a capacity for 60 residents. The complex program needs required a complete renovation of the existing former motel including both interior, exterior and site works components.

Maloney Contractors Ltd., were selected through a rigorous procurement process at the outset of the project. Working in collaboration with the client, design professionals, housing consultant and BC Housing representatives, they were instrumental in refining project scope, approach to construction, schedule and most importantly the construction budget. During this stage, all parties were impressed with their cooperation and ability to adapt to changes in approach and costing.

The construction phase of the project has further confirmed our belief that we made the correct decision in engaging Maloney as our Contractor. Throughout the nine month construction period, we have received the same level of attention and response from the principals as we had during the pre-construction phase. Cost control, adherence to schedule, timely and concise paperwork, strong sub-trade oversight and quality control have been central to the success of our project. Maloney Contractors are a family business. Warren, Chris and Kathy have consistently shown their care and concern for the client and all others throughout the process.

The Salvation Army would have no hesitation in recommending the services of Maloney Contractors Ltd., and we would be pleased to answer any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Andrzej Wodkiewicz
